Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Slovakia

in collaboration with Language Planet language school

warmly invite you to Celebrating Diversity in ELT: Teaching Young and Very Young Learners. The event welcomes teachers, practitioners, researchers and students involved or interested in teaching young and very young learners. Speakers and presenters can submit a proposal for a presentation/ workshop (30-40 minutes) on one of the following topics:

- Teaching English in early childhood – benefits and challenges;
- Trends and innovations in teaching English to young and very young learners;
- Positive psychology and ELT;
- Teaching CLIL to very young and young learners;
- Teaching English to SEN learners (ADD, ADHD, dyslexic, dysgraphic, ...);
- Teaching young learners and very young learners online;
- Teaching not only the language (culture, values) to very young and young learners;
- Using picture books to teach diversity in ELT.

Please submit your 200-word abstract to mhrickova@ukf.sk by 7 March 2022. Include your institutional affiliation and current email address.

Due to the pandemic, we expect virtual presentations will combine with in-person workshops. All participants will receive a certificate of attendance.

Please note:

There is no registration fee for presenters.
